<td>• The Department of German and Russian requires a minimum of 18 hours of upper-division major credit to be taken in residence at BYU for this degree program. These hours may also go toward BYU’s 30-hour residency requirement for graduation.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• For students accepted into the major after August 1, 2014, grades below C in any required coursework in a teaching major or teaching minor will not be accepted. Teacher candidates must maintain a total GPA of 3.0 or higher throughout the program and to qualify for student teaching. For details on admission and retention requirements for teaching majors and teaching minors, see Educator Preparation Program (EPP) Requirements in the undergraduate catalog.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Beginning German courses (101, 102, 201, 202) will be waived for students having comparable training or experience. Consult department for information about placement examinations.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• All students will download a portfolio packet when they enroll in their first class in the German department. This portfolio will travel with the students as they progress from course to course through the degree program. It will serve as a checklist to guide them through their course of study, will record their language proficiency, and will also be a repository for all papers and creative work produced by the student in the department. The completed portfolio will be reviewed in Germ 400R in conjunction with the senior proficiency exam.</td>
<td></td>

<tr>
<td>• A senior capstone paper is required for graduation.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• German 400R is designed to help students of all levels who desire additional skill in speaking, etc.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• In their final year, graduating seniors must register for 1 credit hour of Germ 400R in conjunction with the senior proficiency examination (offered fall and winter only). A minimum rating of Advanced-Low is recommended. Portfolios should be completed and will be reviewed at the time of this exam.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Students planning graduate studies in German should begin a second additional skill in speaking, etc.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• The major culminates in a “professional year,” consisting of Germ 377, 378, Sc Ed 379, and other courses of the student’s choice taken fall semester. The winter semester consists solely of Sc Ed 476R, student teaching. A continuous year-long placement in public schools is arranged for all three courses.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• The Department of German and Russian strongly recommends that StDev 317, a 2-credit-hour course, be taken at the end of the sophomore year or the beginning of the junior year. Because liberal arts degrees provide preparation in a variety of useful fields rather than a single career track, this course is recommended to help liberal arts students focus on specific educational and occupational goals and to identify the career options or educational opportunities available to them. The course will introduce them to the resources needed for accessing information about graduate schools, internships, careers, and career development. Students will learn basic employment strategies, including the steps necessary for obtaining employment related to their own specialty.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• A teaching minor in another subject is strongly recommended. Teaching opportunities in public schools may be significantly reduced without a second teaching subject that a teaching minor provides.</td>

Study at a German University. The department strongly recommends that students spend their junior year at a German university taking courses that will apply toward the major. Universities in Germany charge no tuition, so, even though living costs are generally higher, with careful planning and modest financial support, most students find they can study at “Provo parity,” that is, for about the same amount as a year of study in Provo. For advice about how to enroll and what financial support is available, contact the department office.
